Technical Outlook

Nifty started the week on a weak note, with selling pressure visible in the first three sessions. The index slipped below the 55 EMA and touched the 24,050 zone before finding some buying support. A brief recovery followed on the fourth session, but the final session again saw selling pressure, with Nifty closing at 24,252.

From a moving average perspective, the index is below the 15 EMA (24,306) and 200 EMA (24,376), while still holding above the 55 EMA (24,180). This shows that short-term momentum has weakened, with the 24,670 zone acting as an important hurdle.

RSI slipped to around 49, moving below the neutral 50 mark. This indicates that momentum has turned slightly bearish. Immediate resistance is placed near 24,405, while 24,180 is the first support. A break below this level could bring 24,050 level.

Weekly Market Review

Indian equity benchmarks ended the week with significant losses, weighed down by elevated crude oil prices and escalating tensions between the US and Iran. Continued foreign institutional investor (FII) selling, higher US bond yields and a weaker rupee further dampened investor sentiment. The broader market outperformed the frontline indices during the week, with mid- and small-cap stocks ending marginally higher. With the earnings season largely over, investors are likely to shift their focus towards upcoming economic data, the interest-rate outlook, global cues and stock- and sector-specific developments.

Persistent concerns over the impact of elevated crude oil prices on inflation, corporate margins, dollar inflows and India's external balances remained a key overhang for domestic equities. At the same time, elevated US Treasury yields and continued foreign fund outflows kept risk appetite subdued.

In the week ended on Friday, 21 August 2026, the barometer index, the S&P BSE Sensex declined 468.42 points or 0.60% to 77,540.83. The Nifty 50 index dropped 114 points or 0.47% to 24,252. The BSE 150 Mid-Cap index gained 0.04% to close at 17,282.07. The BSE 250 Small-Cap rose 0.36% to end at 7,242.51.

As per L&T's internal classification, the value of this 'ultra-mega' contract is more than Rs 15,000 crore.
